Love Letters

Letters to our Editor

THIS ISSUE'S $10 WINNING LETTER

I love Teen Love Stories because it's real. We teenagers all have problems, but most of the other magazines treat us as if we're in some kind of dream world where nothing is ever wrong and we have nothing to worry about. The columns of advice show that the editors are really concerned about us, enough to have people who can help us with our problems. The love stories are very realistic, too. They could all have actually happened, maybe they really did. In any case, this is just the magazine that my friends and I, and I'm sure a lot of other kids have been waiting for. You can't expect every single reader to go along with every single thing in every issue, but on the whole most kids are going to dig TEEN LOVE STORIES if you keep it just like it is.

Love ya,
MARILYN SPERBER
Carbondale, Pa.

♥ Thanks for the lovely words of encouragement, Marilyn. After all the hard work the TLS staff has gone through putting together the first few issues of the magazine, your letter just hit the spot. Have a lot of fun with your $10.00 winnings, and thanks again from all of us.

Teen Love Stories it is! My friends and I love every word of it, but we want more, more love that is. Couldn't we get more stories?

BETSY MARTINO
Miami, Fla.

♥ Just check this issue, Bets! We included This Time is Ours just for you. There'll be one in every issue from now on, if you all dig it.

When I borrowed my girlfriend's copy of this magazine, I thought it was just another junky magazine full of cheap stuff. But when my girlfriend insisted that it was a good magazine, I took it home to read and have a laugh over. Naturally, being a teenager, I was interested in love. When I started reading your magazine, nobody could tear me away from it. To my surprise, it was a good magazine with true-to-life stories. When my mother saw it, at first she disapproved, thinking it was a junky magazine, but when she started it, no one could tear her away either! So I congratulate you for making this a good magazine with clean, healthy, but good stories. I also dig the groovy contests and the love-quiz.

SUE SPICKENAGEL
Birmingham, Mich.

♥ Sue, forgive us. We misplaced your address. Please rush it to us, so we can send you your $3.00. Thanks, and thanks for your lovely letter.

I dearly love your magazine, Teen Love Stories. The best part of this month's was the article about Twiggy and the love story, "Follow Your Heart". To improve this fab magazine you could put more love stories in it, though.

I am from The School for the Blind and the girls like to hear me read the love stories to them. They also like to hear about important peoples' love stories.

LA VERNE KIMBES
Dallas, Texas

♥ Thank you, La Verne. That's the kind of letter that touches us so deeply and makes all our hard work worthwhile.

Love Teen Love, but couldn't you have more about the stars in it? The first issue had Twiggy and the gossip column, but the second one just had the column. Everyone wants to read about the doings of the really fab ones.

MARION SCHULTZ
Camden, New Jersey

♥ See our story on Hayley this issue, Marion. Most of our readers, however, have been asking for more love stories and less star stuff; but you continue to tell us what you want and we'll get it for you. It's your magazine, y'know.

Please, please, please, no more Twiggy. She's o.k., but she's not that fab that every single book or mag you pick up has to have a thing about her. And that Justin looks like a creep. I think he's living off her. Maybe that's why she's so thin. Can you just imagine what would happen to this country if every girl decided Twiggy was it and tried to become that skinny? Ugh.

MARILYN PELLIGRINO
Paoli, Pa.

Now that we've had Twiggy taking up space in Teen Love Stories, why don't you give us the other side with a story about Mama Cass Elliot, our fat angel?

♥ Soon as Cass tells us her love secrets, we'll pass 'em on to you!

Teen Love Stories is one of the greatest magazines on the stands. Starscope is real boss and I think it went over big with all the kids. Your picture stories are all right but I'm not crazy about them. I liked the article on Twiggy—especially the pictures. The classified ads are real cool and bad. (editor's note: hope all you other readers out there are hip enough to know bad means good). I didn't like the quiz; it was dumb. Keep up the good work and your magazine will be a smash. I'll be looking forward to the next issue.

Yours truly,
KAREN WOLFINGER
Phila., Penna.

Love how you drew Bruce in the story, Follow Your Fate. The wallet photos of "Boys you'd like to love" were awful. The only good ones were Mickey Dolenz and Bruce Scott. The others are really square time. I mean they're really crop dusters! Well, anyway you've got a good mag. Keep up the good work!

PENNY RENKEN
Toledo, Oregon

♥ Well, we thought they were all dreamy. Penny. But we appreciate your opinion.

I liked the test, "Does he really love me?" best of all in your September issue. The comics are all right, but I wish they weren't so long. Please try to improve the comic section. I also liked the Love Horoscope.

DIANA GOLOMAN
Urbana, Ohio

I am a mother of a sixteen year-old girl and I was shocked to see her reading your magazine with that article about marijuana in it. Don't you think you are doing a lot of harm, telling young people about such evils, besides filling girls' heads with all this love nonsense? You should be put in jail.

(NO NAME OR ADDRESS GIVEN)

♥ Sorry you didn't take the time to read our article about pot, ma'am. You would have seen that we were exposing our readers to the dangers of pot and other drugs. Would you have preferred to find that your daughter, through ignorance of these things, was smoking it? As for love being nonsense, we simply don't think it is. We think it's the most beautiful thing that can happen to a girl, and again we say sorry, 'cause it seems like it didn't happen for you. Maybe your daughter will be luckier. Most of the mail we get from mothers approves of what we at TEEN LOVE STORIES are all about, and quite frankly, we find that most parents strive all their lives to give their kids the things that they didn't have. When we find a mother who resents children having more, or is jealous of her own daughter trying to get more out of life well . . .

I'm in love with your mag. It's the grooviest thing since the Monkees. I think it's time we girls had a love magazine all to ourselves. "Follow Your Fate" is the grooviest story I've read. But only one thing! Why Twiggy? Some girls love Twiggy, but I don't think she is an example of us. We want someone like Tammy laasat (your first cover girl) to be the model that represents us, not some skinny-legged person. And how about giving us teen girls a chance to write some of the stories?

LINDA LINK
Celina, Ohio

♥ Good idea, Linda. We'd love to see stories from you readers. And we'll publish any that are good enough to be shared with the rest of our Teen Lovers.

TEEN LOVE STORIES will award $10.00 each issue to the Best Letter to our Editor. and will give $3.00 for every other reader's letter we publish in our Letters Department. So send yours to "Letter Page", Teen Love Stories, P. O. Box 5987 Grand Central Station, New York, N. Y. 10017. We regret we cannot answer or return letters not chosen. ♥

TRUTH CAN HURT

ALWAYS ON THE LOOK-OUT FOR SOMETHING TO WRITE ABOUT, SALLY CHIVERS, A PROMISING YOUNG JOURNALIST, WAS HAVING HER FIRST EXPERIENCE OF MOTOR RACING

SEEMS FRIGHTENING REALLY, THE WAY THEY RISK LIFE AND LIMB. AND THEY SAY JUDD BAXTER'S THE MOST DARING OF THE LOT

JUDD BAXTER WAS JUST A NAME SHE'D PICKED UP — A RACING ACE WHO'D SUDDENLY ROCKETED TO FAME

BUT SALLY HAD UNDERESTIMATED BAXTER'S DETERMINATION

HE SWUNG ACROSS IN FRONT OF HIS RIVAL SO CLOSE THAT THE OTHER, FORCED TO JAM ON HIS BRAKES, SLEWED OUT OF CONTROL

SALLY BREATHED A SIGH OF RELIEF AS SHE SAW THE OTHER DRIVER THROWN CLEAR A MOMENT BEFORE HIS WRECKED CAR BURST INTO FLAMES

HE COULD SO EASILY HAVE BEEN KILLED. YOU MIGHT ALMOST SAY MURDERED

A LITTLE LATER SALLY SAW JUDD BAXTER AT THE FINISHING LINE CHEERED AND CONGRATULATED FOR HIS TRIUMPH

DISILLUSIONED, SHE PREPARED TO LEAVE

WELL, IF THAT'S WHAT YOU DO TO WIN, JUDD BAXTER, YOU GET NO PRAISE FROM ME!

THAT NIGHT SHE PUT HER SENTIMENTS INTO A LONG ARTICLE WHICH, BECAUSE OF ITS WOMAN'S ANGLE, WAS PUBLISHED

THE ARTICLE DIDN'T SEEM TO WORRY THE MAN IT WAS MOSTLY ABOUT

YOU SAY YOU'VE SEEN IT? WELL, AREN'T YOU GOING TO SUE?

WHY BOTHER? THE WRITER'S JUST SOME CRACKPOT FEMALE WITH A SOFT STREAK AND WITHOUT A CLUE

OLWEN ROSS, DAUGHTER OF THE OWNER OF ROSS'S RACERS LIMITED, TOOK A MORE SERIOUS VIEW

SHE DOESN'T REALLY SAY YOU'RE A CHEAT, JUDD, BUT SHE DOES IMPLY YOU'D STOP AT NOTHING IN ORDER TO WIN

I'D SAY THAT'S A PRETTY GOOD IMAGE. I'M NOT ARGUING

JUDD, PLEASE BE SERIOUS

RELAX, OLWEN. IF THERE'S ANY LEGAL ACTION TO BE TAKEN I RECKON I CAN SAFELY LEAVE IT TO YOUR FATHER AND THE FIRM

BUT RONALD ROSS, OLWEN'S FATHER, WAS TOO BUSY WITH TESTS OF THE FIRM'S NEWEST RACING CAR TO BOTHER HIS HEAD ABOUT GOING TO LAW

MR. ROSS, THERE ISN'T A RACE THIS CAR CAN'T WIN

THE CAR AND YOU, YOU MEAN. I'VE BEEN IN THIS GAME LONG ENOUGH TO KNOW ANY CAR'S ONLY AS GOOD AS THE MAN BEHIND THE WHEEL

WALKING AWAY FROM THE CAR, THE TWO MEN MET OLWEN

SURE, WHY NOT?

OLWEN, WE'VE SOMETHING TO CELEBRATE. WHY DON'T WE THROW A REAL BIG PARTY? ASK EVERYONE ALONG

ROSS AND HIS DAUGHTER WATCHED JUDD WALK AWAY TO GET CHANGED

AND WHY DON'T YOU TWO USE THE OCCASION TO ANNOUNCE YOUR ENGAGEMENT?

FIRST HE HAS TO ASK ME, FATHER

STILL, HE MIGHT DO THAT IF HE HAD REASON TO BE GRATEFUL TO ME. LIKE, FOR INSTANCE, IF I SHOWED HIM JUST HOW DANGEROUS THIS SALLY CHIVERS COULD BE TO HIS CAREER

SOME DAYS LATER SALLY WAS SURPRISED TO FIND HERSELF INVITED TO THE ROSS PARTY

I WOULDN'T HAVE EXPECTED JUDD BAXTER TO WANT TO MEET ME AFTER I MADE IT SO PLAIN WHAT I THINK OF HIM!

SUDDENLY SHE THOUGHT
SHE UNDERSTOOD

UNLESS THE IDEA IS TO GET ROUND ME AND MAKE ME
CHANGE MY MIND. WELL, IT WOULD TAKE MORE THAN COCKTAILS AND CANAPES TO DO THAT

FOR A WHILE SHE WONDERED WHETHER SHE'D BOTHER TO GO, BUT DECIDED SHE'D BETTER IN CASE ANYONE THOUGHT SHE WAS AFRAID TO SHOW UP

BESIDES, IT WILL BE INTERESTING TO MEET JUDD BAXTER FACE TO FACE AND SEE WHAT HE REALLY LOOKS LIKE

AS SHE STEPPED OUTSIDE SHE REALISED IT WAS RAINING HEAVILY

NOT MUCH HOPE OF A TAXI TILL I REACH
THE MAIN STREET
UNLESS THIS IS ONE COMING NOW

YOU - YOU
ROADHOG! YOU
JUDD BAXTER, YOU.
YOU PROBABLY ARE JUDD BAXTER!

AAASH!

BUT IT WAS NO
TAXI AND THE DRIVER DIDN'T FEEL LIKE STOPPING

THERE WAS A SCREECH OF BRAKES BEHIND HER AS ANOTHER CAR SKIDDED TO A HALT AND THE DRIVER SHOUTED AT HER

WHAT ARE YOU STANDING IN THE ROAD LIKE THAT FOR? TRYING TO COMMIT SUICIDE?

DON'T BE SO HORRID! I'M ON MY WAY TO A PARTY, BUT THAT OTHER CAR SWAMPED ME

MAYBE I COULD TAKE YOU

THANKS ALL THE SAME, BUT I CAN'T TURN UP WITH MY NYLONS LOOKING LIKE THIS

THE DRIVER SEEMED VERY ANXIOUS TO BE HELPFUL

YOU COULD SOON CHANGE INTO ANOTHER PAIR. I'M WILLING TO WAIT

THAT'S A VERY KIND OFFER. THANK YOU

SHE RAN BACK INDOORS AND WAS OUT AGAIN IN NO TIME

JUST TELL ME WHERE THE PARTY IS AND HOP IN AND HANG ON TIGHT!

THE EXCELSIOR-ROSS'S RACERS ARE GIVING IT

HE SHOT HER A SHARP GLANCE

Y-YOU CAN'T MEAN YOU'RE THE GIRL WHO WROTE THAT NASTY ARTICLE ABOUT JUDD BAXTER

WHY CAN'T I?

I-I DUNNO - EXCEPT THAT YOU SEEM TOO NICE

THEY WERE QUIET FOR A TIME, BOTH BUSY WITH THEIR THOUGHTS

I WONDER HOW LONG I CAN KEEP HER FROM FINDING OUT THAT I AM JUDD BAXTER

I WISH I'D NEVER ACCEPTED THE INVITATION. I SHALL HATE MEETING JUDD BAXTER FACE TO FACE

WHEN THEY ARRIVED, THE PARTY WAS IN FULL SWING

STAY RIGHT HERE WHILE I GET A COUPLE OF DRINKS, THEN WE'LL TRY TO FIND A QUIET CORNER

AS JUDD FOUGHT HIS WAY TOWARDS THE BAR HE WAS INTERCEPTED BY OLWEN

HEY, JUDD, WHAT'S THE IDEA OF GETTING PALLY WITH THAT CHIVERS CREATURE? I'D EXPECTED SPARKS TO FLY WHEN YOU MET

SHE HASN'T REALISED YET WHO I AM, AND I'M IN NO HURRY TO TELL HER

OLWEN REGARDED HIM WISELY

OH, I SEE! YOU'RE KIDDING HER ALONG AS PART OF YOUR REVENGE

YOU WON'T GIVE THE GAME AWAY, I HOPE

WHEN JUDD JOINED SALLY AGAIN,
OLWEN STUDIED THEM

WHATEVER JUDD'S GAME IS, HE DOESN'T SEEM IN ANY HURRY TO SMACK THAT GIRL DOWN.
IT LOOKS MORE LIKE
HE'S FALLEN FOR HER—AND SHE FOR HIM

I DIDN'T RECKON ON HER TAKING UP SO MUCH OF JUDD'S TIME. HE'S MY PROPERTY. AND I'M GOING TO SEE SHE KNOWS IT!

CASUALLY SHE FLOATED
ACROSS TO THEM

OLWEN EYED SALLY DISDAINFULLY

AH, THERE YOU ARE, DARLING!
WHO'S YOUR FRIEND?
INTRODUCE ME

SORRY, I THOUGHT
YOU KNEW EACH OTHER. OLWEN
ROSS — SALLY CHIVERS

WELL, MISS CHIVERS,
IT WASN'T INTENDED THAT YOU SHOULD COME
HERE TO ENJOY YOURSELF—AND DEFINITELY NOT TO CORNER MY MAN

POISON DRIPPED FROM OLWEN'S TONGUE AS SHE WENT ON

LEAVING THEM ARGUING, SALLY SLIPPED AWAY

BUT SHE COULDN'T HELP FEELING A LITTLE DISAPPOINTED THAT NOBODY WAS COMING
AFTER HER

STILL, IT'S HARDLY SURPRISING, IF HE'S OLWEN'S SPECIAL PROPERTY. BUT AT LEAST HE WAS CHARMING TO ME,
EVEN THOUGH HE BELONGS TO THE ROSS OUTFIT

SOMEHOW SHE COULDN'T GET HIM OUT OF HER THOUGHTS.

I'LL BE DREAMING OF HIM IF I'M NOT CAREFUL, AND THAT WOULD BE STUPID.
I MUST REMIND MYSELF
HE'S BOOKED ALREADY,
AND FORGET HIM

WHO KNOWS HOW WELL SHE MIGHT HAVE SUCCEEDED IF HE HADN'T TURNED UP AT HER OFFICE JUST BEFORE ONE O'CLOCK NEXT DAY?

I THOUGHT WE MIGHT LUNCH TOGETHER AND TAKE UP OUR CONVERSATION WHERE WE WERE INTERRUPTED

HOW DID YOU KNOW WHERE TO FIND ME?

WHERE I COME FROM YOUR NAME'S
A HOUSEHOLD WORD.
EVERYONE KNOWS
WHERE YOU WORK

AND JUST WHAT IS YOUR FIANCEE GOING TO SAY ABOUT YOUR COMING HERE?

THAT WAS NO
FIANCEE. THAT WAS THE BOSS'S DAUGHTER

HE SEEMED TO PREFER THE QUIET COUNTRYSIDE AWAY FROM PEOPLE, AND FORTUNATELY SALLY LIKED THE COUNTRY TOO

SO LONG AS WE'RE TOGETHER I DON'T MUCH MIND WHERE WE GO

IT ALSO MADE IT LESS LIKELY THAT ANYONE WOULD WITNESS THEIR MORE TENDER MOMENTS

I CAN KEEP HER AWAY FROM PEOPLE WHO KNOW ME, BUT IT'S INCREDIBLE SHE HASN'T RECOGNISED ME FROM A PHOTOGRAPH

BUT SALLY HADN'T, AND SO THE AFFAIR BLOSSOMED

BUT I'LL HAVE TO TELL HER WHO I AM SOME DAY. I CAN'T LEAVE IT TILL WE REACH THE ALTAR

YOU'RE VERY THOUGHTFUL TODAY

ALWAYS AM WHEN ROSS'S HAVE A BIG RACE COMING UP

A KISS WAS THE SUREST WAY OF AVOIDING A QUARREL AND SALLY GAVE IT

MEANWHILE OLWEN WAS BEGINNING TO WONDER WHY SHE HADN'T BEEN SEEING SO MUCH OF JUDD

WHERE'S MR. BAXTER?
ISN'T HE AROUND?

HE HAS BEEN, MISS ROSS, BUT HE DOESN'T STAY ON SO LONG THESE DAYS

BUT HE NEEDS TO DO PLENTY OF TESTING WITH THE BIG RACE SO NEAR

MAYBE HE'S TESTING SOMEONE ELSE'S PERFORMANCE—A LADY'S?

COULD HE BE RIGHT? COULD OUR LITTLE LADY JOURNALIST HAVE CHANGED HER TUNE SO MUCH THAT IT'S BECOME A LOVE SONG?

THE FOLLOWING DAY
OLWEN WAS AT THE OFFICE NOT LONG AFTER SALLY HAD ARRIVED

I HEAR YOU DIDN'T GET MY MESSAGE THE NIGHT OF THE PARTY

NO - AND I DIDN'T GET YOUR MAN, EITHER.
HE'S UNDER NO OBLIGATION TO YOU

OLWEN HAD GUESSED WHAT SALLY'S LINE
WOULD BE AND WAS READY FOR IT

I DON'T SEE WHAT THERE IS TO DISCUSS

SHALL WE SIT DOWN AND DISCUSS THIS CALMLY?

WELL, I DO. EVEN IF THERE'S NO OBLIGATION TO ME, THERE IS TO THE FIRM HE WORKS FOR. AN OBLIGATION TO WIN ANY BIG RACE. TOO MUCH OF YOUR PRISY ATTITUDE TO RACING
MIGHT WELL SAP JUDD'S DETERMINATION TO COME THROUGH AND WIN

THERE WAS A MOMENT'S SILENCE, AND THEN OLWEN GAVE A GASP OF SURPRISE

DON'T TELL ME YOU STILL DON'T KNOW WHO HE IS? I CAN'T BELIEVE HE'S MANAGED TO FOOL YOU ALL THIS WHILE!

OLWEN'S SURPRISE GAVE WAY TO A PEAL OF MERRIMENT

THIS IS REALLY RICH! I CAN UNDERSTAND YOU NOT FINDING OUT AT THE PARTY. YOU DIDN'T STAY LONG ENOUGH. BUT ALL THIS TIME AFTERWARDS -

I DON'T SEE WHAT'S FUNNY ABOUT IT!

TRIUMPHANTLY
OLWEN STROLLED TOWARDS THE DOOR

IT CERTAINLY WAS A NEAT WAY FOR JUDD TO GET EVEN WITH YOU FOR THAT ARTICLE
YOU WROTE. I HAVE TO HAND IT TO HIM. HE EVEN FOOLED ME

WITH THE CONFIDENT RING OF OLWEN'S VOICE STILL BUZZING IN HER EARS, SALLY FELT SHE HAD INDEED BEEN LED UP THE GARDEN PATH

AND WHO CAN BLAME
HIM?

FOR A MOMENT SHE TRIED TO MAKE LIGHT OF THE WHOLE BUSINESS, BUT SHE KNEW HER HEART HAD BEEN DEEPLY INVOLVED

JUDD REALLY MUST HAVE WANTED TO HURT ME. IT COULDN'T JUST BE HIS IDEA OF A JOKE, OR HE'D HAVE TOLD ME WHO HE REALLY WAS BY NOW

NO, IT WAS VERY DELIBERATELY CRUEL AND HEARTLESS.
I REALLY BELIEVED IN HIM, IN OUR HAPPINESS

WITH A TREMENDOUS EFFORT SHE PULLED HERSELF TOGETHER

HOW FAR WAS THAT FIRST MEETING OF OURS AN ACCIDENT
I WONDER, AND HOW FAR WAS IT ARRANGED?

SUDDENLY SHE GRABBED HER COAT, LEAVING A MESSAGE THAT SHE HAD TO LEAVE ON URGENT BUSINESS FOR AN HOUR

HE MAY HAVE BROKEN MY HEART
BUT HE NEEDN'T THINK I'M GOING TO LET HIM SEE

AT THE RACE TRACK OLWEN WAS WATCHING WITH SATISFACTION AS JUDD PUT THE NEW ROSS RACER THROUGH HER PACES

HE'S DRIVING BETTER THAN EVER

AS THE CAR DREW INTO THE PITS SHE BECAME AWARE OF SALLY'S DETERMINED LOOKING FIGURE WALKING TOWARDS JUDD

THIS REALLY MAKES MY DAY.
I ONLY WISH I WAS CLOSE ENOUGH TO HEAR

IMPATIENTLY SHE INTERRUPTED HIM

I HAD EVERY RIGHT TO CRITICISE SOMEONE WHO DRIVES AS RECKLESSLY AS YOU DO. IT SHOULD BE A CRIMINAL OFFENCE TO ENDANGER A RIVAL'S LIFE THE WAY YOU DID

FEARING HE WOULD SEE THE TEARS SPRINGING TO HER EYES, SHE TURNED ON HER HEEL AND WALKED QUICKLY AND ANGRILY AWAY

YOU COME TO THE NEXT BIG RACE AND YOU'LL SEE ME DRIVE THE ONLY WAY I CAN. TO WIN

TOO BAD, DARLING, BUT JUDD'S A PROFESSIONAL. HE ALWAYS LIKES TO WIN. I'M AFRAID YOU DIDN'T STAND A CHANCE

IN HER ANXIETY TO BE AWAY FROM THE PLACE SALLY DID NOT SEE THE WATCHING OLWEN

LOOKS LIKE THE LAST LAP'S OVER

DIMLY SALLY HEARD THE CLATTER OF OLWEN'S HIGH HEELS AS SHE RACED DOWN TO THE PITS

OLWEN'S TRIUMPH SEEMED COMPLETE

JUDD MADE NO REPLY OTHER THAN PULLING DOWN HIS GOGGLES AND ZOOMING AWAY IN THE CAR

AT THE OFFICE SALLY RUTHLESSLY THREW OUT ALL THE MATERIAL SHE'D EVER COLLECTED FOR INFORMATION ABOUT MOTOR RACING

SALLY HAD KNOWN IT WOULD BE DIFFICULT TO FORGET JUDD, BUT SHE HADN'T EXPECTED HER EDITOR TO MAKE THINGS HARDER LATER IN THE WEEK

WHAT HAVE YOU GOT LAID ON FOR THE BIG RACE, SALLY?

WHY - ER - NOTHING, CHIEF

NOTHING? AFTER YOUR ARTICLE THAT EVERYONE TALKED ABOUT? ARE YOU CRAZY? NOW YOU LISTEN TO ME, YOUNG WOMAN -

YOU WHIPPED UP THIS INTEREST AMONG OUR READERS. IT'S UP TO YOU TO SATISFY IT. WE CAN'T AFFORD TO MISS THAT RACE NOW WITH JUDD BAXTER RACING A NEW MODEL

ON THE DAY OF THE RACE OLWEN WAS SURPRISED TO SEE SALLY BUT NOT AT ALL ALARMED

SO SHE JUST COULDN'T KEEP AWAY? MAYBE SHE DIDN'T REALLY BELIEVE SHE WAS BEATEN. WELL, SHE WILL AFTER THE RACE

FROM THE BEGINNING THE ATMOSPHERE WAS TENSE AND EVERYONE ANXIOUS FOR THE CARS TO BE AWAY

AND THEN THEY WERE OFF WITH JUDD DRIVING CAR
NUMBER SEVENTEEN

JUDD'S OUT IN FRONT ALREADY!

SALLY SCARCELY HAD THE HEART TO WATCH

SUDDENLY A HORRIFIED GASP WENT UP FROM THE CROWD AS THE WHEELS OF THE LEADING CARS BECAME LOCKED

THAT VAST CROWD SEEMED TO HOLD ITS BREATH KNOWING DEATH WAS STALKING BOTH DRIVERS

WHILE OLWEN LOOKED ON COOL AND NERVELESS

THROW HIM OFF
AT THE CORNER!
JUDD! THAT'S YOUR CHANCE! IT'S HIM OR YOU ANYWAY!

BUT JUDD WAS WELL AWARE OF THE SITUATION

LOOKS LIKE ONE OF US HAS GOT TO BACK DOWN! AND I'VE NEVER LIKED IT TO BE ME.
BUT UNLESS I DO —

BREATHLESSLY THE CROWD WONDERED HOW LONG THE TWO CARS COULD STAY LOCKED TOGETHER

I THOUGHT JUDD WOULD HAVE ACTED BY NOW, BUT IT ALMOST SEEMS AS THOUGH A MAN'S LIFE IS MORE IMPORTANT THAN WINNING

OLWEN WAS FURIOUS WHEN JUDD FAILED TO BREAK AWAY

YOU'VE LOST YOUR CHANCE NOW, JUDD! WHAT ARE YOU THINKING OF?

BUT AT THE NEXT TURNING THE OTHER DRIVER WAS NOT SO CONSIDERATE

NOW THE CARS WERE FREE, BUT JUDD'S WAS SPINNING DANGEROUSLY, MOMENTARILY OUT OF CONTROL

SALLY WAS WATCHING IN MOUNTING HORROR

BUT JUDD REGAINED CONTROL OF THE CAR BEFORE IT COULD CRASH THROUGH THE FENCE, WHILE OTHER CONTESTANTS ZOOMED PAST, DANGEROUSLY CLOSE

BUT IN SPITE OF HIS ESCAPE IT WAS TOO LATE TO GET BACK INTO THE RACE. THE PRIZE WENT TO ANOTHER

THEY RAN TO EACH OTHER

I'M PROUD
OF YOU, JUDD.
REALLY PROUD

I LOVE YOU, SALLY.
ALWAYS HAVE. I ONLY WISH I'D FOUND THE NERVE TO TELL YOU WHO I WAS IN THE FIRST PLACE. OUT THERE
JUST NOW I DISCOVERED
I COULDN'T LIVE
WITHOUT YOU

THIS MAY COME AS A SURPRISE TO YOU,
BUT THERE ARE OTHER
LOYALTIES. TO OTHER
DRIVERS FOR INSTANCE.
I LOST THE PRIZE, BUT I'VE LEARNED A LOT
THIS AFTERNOON

JUDD HAD DISCOVERED
ANOTHER LOYALTY, TOO

JUDD!

SHE WAS IN A SEVENTH HEAVEN OF HAPPINESS AS THEY KISSED

SHE POINTED OUT THAT NOT EVERYONE THOUGHT THERE WAS NOTHING MORE IMPORTANT THAN WINNING

I'LL LET YOU INTO A SECRET.
I DIDN'T LOSE
THIS AFTERNOON.
I WON THE BIGGEST PRIZE THERE IS—YOU

END

HOW TO MAKE A BOY DO ANYTHING YOU WANT!

*You're a woman. Or at least, you're on the way.
And a woman is a woman for only one reason: men.
You're going to live your life with and for a man.
Lay your plans right, starting N-O-W!*

You're young, and that's very lucky. It give you time to practice on them while they're still boys. If this sounds like it's going to be awful, man-killing advice, rest assured it's not. Not in these pages. Not ever. Because we believe in love, love between man and woman at this age and at any age. A boy learning to do things for a girl is a boy learning to be a man. In our world, man is the adventurer, the seeker, the earner as well as the learner. A woman wants to be a mother because the children she bears will be the strongest reflection of her man, and of the love between them. A man has to learn to take care of his woman, their family, this little world in itself which is so solely and purely his. Being the right woman for the right man is the greatest work and the greatest joy there is in this world. Or haven't you heard Aretha Franklin wailing, "Do-Right Man, Do-Right Woman"? Listen to it; it's all there.

If you have the right guy, then it's pretty likely that the things you want will be the right things for both of you. So let's immediately rule out selfishness as your motivation, and get to the actual things you might be wanting from him this very minute.

Every girl wants her guy looking good. Whether your version of good means a hippy-dippy bell-bottomed long-haired mod-man, or a clean-cut, clean-shaven, well-pressed and well-dressed, we don't care. It's getting him to be what you want him to be that counts. (This is not selfishness on your part. Deep down inside, he wants to be what you want him to be, even though he may never admit it.)

To get him looking right for you, first concentrate on his good points. Compliment him on all the things he has or does that are already right. Then it's easy to lead into the things that will make him even more so. Appeal to his ego. This works with every male in the world. The important thing is, do it from a positive approach. Don't ever attack the ego; that's suicide. Build it, fortify it, pamper it, cater to it. All you'll ever get back is love. "With your eyes, you should always wear blue." Take it from there.

You want to go someplace. A dance, movie, game, party, whatever. How do you get him to take you? Simple. First, by letting him know (gently) this is what you want. Secondly, by removing any possible obstacles in the way. Test coming up? Help him cram. Doesn't know the crowd? Introduce them. Doesn't dig the stars in the flick? Rave about the plot. Quote the reviews. Thirdly, SHOW him how happy it will make you to go. If this isn't enough reward, then offer another one. Like you'll go someplace he wants to the next time. Or bake him a cake. Men dig bribery. It shows them that they're worth getting to.

There's a certain something you want for your birthday. Here we have to hedge. There are no guaranteed ways of getting it. You can try using your girlfriend to tell him, that sometimes is the simplest. You can try light hinting. Some little spark may catch fire. You can hope and pray. But the grooviest men sometimes appear with the gooniest gifts imaginable. But then, the very next time, he'll show up with something so out of sight it will make what you wanted seem like nothing. And you'll adore him all the more for having thought of it and selected it himself. That's really the best answer in this situation. Love the guy, and you'll automatically love the gift, because whatever it is, it is his personal expression of his feelings for you. Don't set your heart on the certain something; prepare instead to love what comes. It's much groovier this way.

How to get him to respect your wishes. (And you.) This is very important, because it's a tricky, dangerous area where two of you are testing your own emotions as well as each other's. Here you must know exactly what you want and how far you want to go, because it's up to the girl to set the limits and then make sure that the boy follows the rules. If you're going steady, and each date ends up with a heavy necking session, and this is as far as you want to go, you've got to let him know beforehand. Once you start playing with physical emotions it's hard to control yourself, and you can't make up the rules as you go along. It's too late then. This is how so many 'good' girls get themselves into trouble. Every girl loves being kissed, but you must know where to stop, and so must he. Because this is even tougher on boys than it is on girls, he'll appreciate your setting the limits, even though he'll act as though he hates you for it. Once a male gets started, the only thing that can stop him is you. And once you know just how far it's going to go, you'll be more relaxed and you'll enjoy it more without having to worry about when to stop. You'll have decided beforehand, so just stick to your decision.

So much for the big things in life. Now for the little ones. Get him to show you the little courtesies by showing some to him. Let him know you expect the car door opened for you and help with your coat by telling him so, and show him the same kind of respect by being on time and good manners.

Finally, it's much easier to get him to do what you want to, if every so often, you do what he wants. Give in to his wishes; he can only love you for it. It will make him want to do what will please you whenever he can if you show the same sort of loving feeling toward him. Do for each other things that you can't be doing for yourself. That's what it's all about?

TEEN LOVE STORIES

SAMANTHA KIRK TALKS ABOUT

YOUR PERSONAL LOVE PROBLEMS

SISTERS

Dear Samantha,
I have a sister who is 2 years older than I am, but I get everything before she does. She couldn't wear a bikini till she was 15 and I got one at 13. She is so angry at me she wouldn't talk to me. It's been going on for a month. How should I make up?

Need a Sister

Dear Need a Sister,
Yours is a very unusual situation, and your letter doesn't explain why your parents seem to favor you over your sister. Usually, the younger sister is complaining about not being able to do all the things the older one does. Try to explain to your sister that your feelings for her are more important to you than getting things she doesn't have; try to explain her point of view to your mother. The way you signed your letter touched me very much and I hope you are able to straighten things out between you.

MISSES KISSES

Dear Miss Kirk,
I'm 18 years old and going steady with this boy. We've been going for one year and he hasn't kissed me once. What should I do?

Worried

Dear Worried,
Ask him the reason for his coldness. It doesn't sound normal to me. If he doesn't give you a satisfactory answer, drop him.

ENGAGED ELSEWHERE

Dear Miss Kirk,
I'm 19 and I love a boy who's 20. He's engaged and he loves me. He wants to break his engagement because of me. Should I let him?

Discouraged

Dear Discouraged,
He should break his engagement and that has very little to do with you. If he can give one girl a ring, and tell another one he loves her, there is something wrong with him. Let him do whatever he wants, but it shouldn't have any bearing on your life. Get rid of this Romeo.

WILD THING

Dear Samantha,
I'm 17 years old and for the last two years have been going steady with this real sweet guy. We broke up 5 months ago, because he wanted to be different and do wild things. He thought too much of me to ask me to put up with it so he broke up with me. Now after five months of drinking, smoking, and fighting, he acts as if he wants to come back but he has too much pride to admit he was wrong. This other boy I met really likes me. Should I forget him and give this other boy a chance or try and help him come back? If I try to help him come back can you give me some suggestions as to how to help him come back?

Miss A.O.

Dear Miss A.O.,
Only you can decide which boy you really want. By your letter, and the way you keep asking about him, I would guess it's the one who was your steady for two years. Since you know him that well, you should be able to sit down with him and have a really serious talk, about the future and about the present and whether you're going to spend it together.

TWO WON'T DO

Dear Samantha,
I am 14. I like two boys. My mom said I should pick just one boy. They are both nice and have good manners. I like both of them very much. How could I tell one of them I can't see him any more?

Miss L.

Dear Miss L.,
The one I think you should talk to is your mom. I can't understand why she would want a 14 year old to see only one boy, rather than getting to know as many nice boys as possible. I wish you would talk to her about it, and do write me again, letting me know her reasons.

COLOR BLIND

Dear Samantha,
Boy, do I have a problem! I'm 15 and I'm going out with a guy who is Chinese. I'm white and did that start a problem. I like him and so do my parents. But all the neighbors treat me without any respect and other boys don't think very much of me. To me, that's real dumb, but I have nothing to say. Some of my friends say I should break up with him, and I'm not sure I should. PLEASE HELP. Should I or shouldn't I?

Mixed Up

Dear Samantha,
I am 13 years old and I have a real problem. I am in love, but this is a different kind of love. The boy is Negro. But I really love him very much, I'd do anything to be his. I love him not only for his looks and charm but also for himself. He is kind and gentle and is considerate of others. He is fair too. He said that he would ask me to go steady with him but he is going away and wouldn't want to ask me and then leave me. But then, the other night he called me up and said that he wasn't going away. So he might still ask me. My questions are: If he asks me, should I accept? Does the color matter if we both love each other? Should we continue seeing each other? My mother answered the phone when he called and she said he sounded like a Negro or Puerto Rican, but I didn't say anything. Should I tell her about him? If I tell my parents and they don't approve, should I stop seeing him even though I'll never ever forget him as long as I live? I need HELP!!

Miss U.

I have put these two letters together because they are both taken from many, many such that we at TEEN LOVE STORIES have been receiving. It is almost impossible to give good, sound, advice such as these girls need in such a short space. Therefore, in a future issue, we are going to go more fully into the questions that arise with interracial dating and love. Till then, I can only say to both these girls and the many others, follow your heart. Respect your own feelings, and sooner or later, most people will come around to respecting and understanding you, too. You teens are a big part of a fast-changing world, and it may be harder for grown-ups to adjust to it than it is for you!

GIRL CRAZY

Dear Samantha,
I'm 13 and I'm going with a boy of 14 and we really like each other. We've been going together for 2 years now. My problem is that my boy friend is girl-crazy. What I mean is he likes all the girls, but I'm the other girl he'll go with. There are other boys who like me who I could go with if we break up. I really am crazy about him. He's handsome and works hard, too. Every time we break up we get back together again. Please tell me what to do.

Yours truly
Toni S.

P.S. Could I have a picture of you to show my friends who my secret advisor is?

Dear Toni,

To begin with, you have been going with this boy since you were 11. That's much too young to have started seeing any boy, let alone a steady. The fact that he is girl crazy as you put it proves he isn't ready yet, either. I sincerely suggest you start seeing other boys. Thank you very much for the lovely picture of yourself you sent me. It's so nice to know what our readers look like. I can't send you a picture, I'm sorry to say, but why don't you show the column and all of Teen Love Stories to your friends? END

Readers, write to me about your life and its every day hopes and worries. We are especially glad to hear from you teens, and to help you with good advice. Letters should not be over 500 words. I read each and every letter you send.

Love HOROSCOPE

HOW TO CATCH A BOY—BY HIS STARS! Has a certain someone set stars dancing in your eyes? Check his stars below, and you'll soon have him dancing—in your arms!

ARIES (MARCH 21-APRIL 19). The Aries boy, with his restless nature, is usually all over the place, so you're going to have to do some fast stepping in order to keep up with him. Check him out at track meets, drag races, air shows. Let him know you're interested in these things too, but never, never know more or do more than he does. Aries MUST dominate at all times.

TAURUS (APRIL 20-MAY 20). Stubborn, stubborn, stubborn! That's him. Agree agree agree, that's you. Show the Taurean that you're so easy to get along with that he'll never have a fight on his hands, and he'll be able to hide that bully part of his nature (which he secretly dislikes about himself). This will groove him out of his mind.

GEMINI (MAY 21- JUNE 21). The dual nature of Gemini means you will have to be more than usually alert to catch this boy. Be prepared for hot-and-cold-running-water kind of personality, and learn to adjust your moods to suit his. "Taint easy, but may be well worth it. Gemini can be a gem! Just be sure you catch the right specimen of this very tricky sign.

CANCER (JUNE 22-JULY 22). Sensitive and affectionate, ready to receive an outpouring of your best qualities, this boy will return sweetness for sweetness. Show him you care, but don't overdo it. (Remember the sensitivity). Show him that you're a good listener, and sympathize with his hopes and dreams. They may soon include you.

LEO (JULY 23-AUGUST 22). Catch a Leo and you've caught a king. To keep a king is not the easiest thing in the world, though. He must be catered to, attended to, obeyed. Let him know that you have all the time and patience and loyalty he will command. And command he will. Constantly. (Well, do you want to be queen or don't you?)

VIRGO (AUGUST 23-SEPTEMBER 22). He is very, very critical, so beware. Always be at your best, looking picture-perfect. If you do have the high standards that match Virgo's, he will be very proud of you and show you off. If you dig this sort of attention and admiration, and can always deserve it, then your Virgo will be yours.

LIBRA (SEPTEMBER 23-OCTOBER 22). He's warm and passionate, so be very careful. The other risk is, he loves his freedom (maybe for other warmth and passion). So be very sure you can give him all he wants without it leading to trouble for you. He is very fair-minded, so don't gossip or pass judgments on other people. He won't like it.

SCORPIO (OCTOBER 23-NOVEMBER 21). He's hard-headed and hard-driving and has no time for silliness. Suppress the giggles or forget the guy. Be straightforward, level, sincere, ready to go along with his plans. He'll expect you to do whatever he wants, for he's possessive, active and jealous.

SAGITTARIUS (NOVEMBER 22-DECEMBER 21). Reckless and free, so show him you're ready for fun. Let him know this is what you're after, too, and that you're not trying to clip his wings. Don't ever phone him, unless he specifically tells you to. Don't ask him when he's going to call you, either; just be very casual but happy to hear from him.

CAPRICORN (DECEMBER 22-JANUARY 19). He needs encouragement, so go all out with warmth and understanding. He may seem a little cool and stand-offish, but that's because he needs you. Once you've shown him that you were made for each other, he will reward you with deep devotion and loyalty. This one needs a little extra push.

AQUARIUS (JANUARY 20-FEBRUARY 18). Highly unpredictable, so show him you're ready for anything. If he asks you where you want to go, say, "Let's do something different!" or "Surprise me!" Be very flexible; even though you're trying to match his moods, you must be ready for constant changes, and be stable enough underneath to change right along with him.

PISCES (FEBRUARY 19-MARCH 20). A quiet boy, probably, so don't overwhelm him. But don't make the mistake of thinking you can out-think him. His is a very subtle nature, and he may be very aware and appreciative of qualities in you that other boys will overlook completely. Pisces may bring flowers, so be prepared to be romanced if you can very carefully bring out this element in his nature. END

ASK CHUCK

Need the advice of a big brother?—write your Our Man Chuck for the boy's point of view on your problem.

Truth or Consequences

Dear Chuck,

I've been going with this guy for 3 months, and we've really been hitting it off good. I've heard from someone that he still likes this girl he was going with before me. How can I find out, and make it easier for both of us, without asking him straight out?

Troubled

Dear Troubled,

You can't. Asking him straight out, as you put it, is the straightest, simplest, easiest way to do it. If you really are troubled by this rumor. How would the person who told it to you know, anyhow? If your boyfriend dug this other chick more, wouldn't he still be going with her not you? Maybe you just want reassurance from him that you're his one and only. Think it over before you bring it up.

Wild Blue Yonder

Dear Chuck,

I went with this boy for 3 weeks and 3 days. All of a sudden he wanted to break up. He's going to the Air Force and he said he didn't want to be tied down. We were talking about getting married in two years. I really love him and he said he loved me. Some of my friends say I could get him back but I've tried and haven't made any progress. Please help.

Lonely

Dear Lonely,

3 weeks and 3 days isn't enough time to find out enough about a person to want to go steady, let alone get married. Going away for a couple of years is the best thing he could do for you. Date other guys, and don't take your next "love" so seriously.

Tall Story

Dear Chuck,

I dated a boy for a month and then all of a sudden he stopped dating me because people teased him about my being taller than he is. I'm not that much taller, because my friends never noticed it. Do you think if he really likes me and wants to date me he would let that bother him?

Too Tall

Dear T.T.,

If this is really a shy guy, he could have been teased right out of the relationship. But if the difference doesn't bother you, it really shouldn't bug him, 'cause it's usually the gals who are more sensitive on this score. Sit him down (then you'll be same size!) for a heart-to-heart talk about how much more he means to you than this small difference and you should be able to make up. Let me know how it works out.

Blue for Who?

Dear Chuck,

I'm 14 and my parents won't let me date til I'm 16. But that's not my problem. I like this boy who works just a little way from where I do. Every time I walk past he looks up and smiles. Is that a good sign that he likes me a little? I hope so very much.

Very Blue

ASK CHUCK

Dear Very Blue,

Yes, that's a very good sign that he likes you indeed. Since you're not allowed to date, but seem to have responsibilities, why don't you ask mom if you can invite him over for a couple of hours someday? She might go along with it and put Very Blue in the pink!

Breath-taking

Dear Chuck,

I'm 14 and I like a boy who's 16, but he doesn't know I'm alive. What can I do to let him know I am alive.

Helpless

Dear Helpless,

Try breathing very hard whenever you're near him. Just don't breath down his neck; that might be too much.

What, Again?

Dear Chuck,

I'm 12 years old. Do you think I'm too young to have a boy friend? We don't go on dates or anything like that. We just talk once in a while. Well, anyway, my boy friend is 4 inches shorter than I am. Is there anything I can do about this? Please give me any advice you've got. Thanks.

Clod-hopper Carol

Dear Carol,

I'm too young to have a boy friend, except that if things are the way you say they are between you, just a little talk every now and then, and your folks don't disapprove, then I guess it's o.k. As for his being shorter, see our advice to Too Tall above. I don't think it's important at all. Besides, maybe it's a good thing you caught him so young, because he may still outgrow you. What I don't like is the unflattering way you signed your letter. If you think of yourself that way, how can other people think about you? Girls should be girls, and always treat yourself as a lady, now and future. Then everyone else will too. Promise?

Involved

Dear Chuck,

I just recently became 18. I started dating this guy when I was 17. I am ashamed to say that I had an affair with him because I've always been good and pure. I know now that he's married and has 3 kids, but I also know he definitely hasn't seen his wife in 3 years. We finally broke up because my guilt feelings led to fights. I date others now but I find when I come home I think of him. I know there was a time when he really did love me but I know I'm better off without him. I never see him any more but sometimes I think I still love him. I don't want to get involved again.

Gullyty

Dear Gullyty,

The last thing you said was the best thing you said. 'I don't want to get involved again.' Amen. Stay away from this type and keep dating around til you find the right guy, one you can think about for 24 hours a day without any of this 'guilty' nonsense to bug your life with.

Shy Guy

Dear Chuck,

I have a very shy boy friend. In fact he's so shy I don't know what to do with him. He doesn't call me probably because his family teases him so much. So he expects me to call him. He can only dance slow dances. Please help.

Miss J.

Dear Miss J.,

If his family teases him about his calling a girl, imagine what they do when a girl calls him! I think your boy friend just wants a little extra coddling and attention from you. If he is that shy, your teaching him some of the newer and hipper dances may be a terrific help, and solve two of your problems at the same time.

Talk Time

Dear Chuck,

I'm 14 and I really know the difference between right and wrong. But there's an older fellow (17) I like very much, but I just don't know what to talk about when I'm with him. Could you give me some ideas about something to talk about on a date?

Carmel

Dear Carmel,

Talk about sports, him, new sounds you dig, him, movies, him, activities around town, him, him, him, ... the list is endless.

IF I DON'T DRINK HE'LL THINK I'M NOWHERE

YOU'RE PART OF THE CROWD. THINGS ARE GROOVY. SUDDENLY SOMEBODY OFFERS YOU A DRINK...

There are certain times in a teen's life when something nudges her and says, "You're growing up, girl." These aren't great big things; on the contrary, you'll never remember them as red-letter days. But, the first time you tweeze your eyebrows, the first time you wear dress-up stocking on a regular school day, the first time that someone offers you a glass of liquor, you realize that somehow things will never be the same again. New chores, new needs, new responsibilities.

Let's take drinking. That's a very real problem for many kids. You're part of a crowd; you dig their doings. You may be going around with one of the guys on a pretty steady basis, and maybe it took a little while for this bunch to even notice you. But now you've made it, and you feel pretty good about it. Other kids may be saying that they're a little wild, but so far you're having a ball and couldn't care less. Then comes the night of the really big blast. One of the kids' family is away, and the gang is taking over the house for a real swinging party. The mood is groovy, the music is loud as you like and dance-y, and you think, who could want anything more?

The unhappy answer to that one is that a couple of the kids (most likely the fellas) think getting a little high on alcohol will really make things take off. Unfortunately their chicks are willing to go along with anything their guys say, and before you know it, there's a glass of awful-smelling brown liquid shoved into your unsteady little hand. You stand there. Going through your head are the warnings your parents have leveled at you against drinking. Or even if they haven't, you know in your own wig that this isn't right. But the whole gang is watching, some of the other chicks are already gulping and giggling, and you're still standing there confused enough already without having taken a drop. There are your friends, egging you on to do something you don't want to do, that you know isn't right for you. What do you do? You certainly don't want to lose the acceptance that you've won from these kids, or that warm glow of belonging that was cuddling you so nicely until a few minutes ago. Where to turn?

The smoothest solution is right at hand. Let your guy know that this is a time when you want to be alone with him, as alone as the two of you can get. If it's outside the house, good. In another room, good too. If there is no place else to go, take the furthest, quietest corner of the room you're in. If you're really cool about it, you can make this little departure seem like the height of sophistication to any of the onlookers who are still watching you. Once you get your guy to where you can talk privately drop all pretense and lay it on the line.

Let him know that you don't want to drink, don't think it's necessary to be looking for trouble, above all, that you are grooved enough just being with him not to need any additional stimulation. If he can't dig this, and tries to bully you into taking a swig, then this isn't the guy for you, and you might as well face it now. He isn't man enough or strong enough or smart enough to take care of you. Drop him and the crowd. If they can't get their kicks naturally, then sooner or later there's gonna be trouble. The kind of trouble you don't want your name mixed up in.

If, on the other hand, your date digs what you're doing, and respects your wishes, then the two of you can pretty well fake it without there being a big embarrassing scene. Drinking doesn't go with your years. And face it firmly from the first time it comes up.

There are millions of adults in this country who don't know how to handle their liquor, and that's no exaggeration. Millions are classified as alcoholics, which is a definite sickness, and a serious one, at that. Millions more are absorbing more whiskey daily than they should be, and while they are supposedly leading normal lives, their families are suffering considerably. So are their jobs, even though most won't admit it. This isn't to say that drinking is all bad; there are many adults who enjoy a cocktail before dinner or in the evening or at parties who are in no danger of becoming drunks. But these are the ones who have learned to handle the stuff. You can be very sure they didn't learn it in their teens.

At this time of your life, you're too busy learning about too many other things to be conquering alcohol. Your growing, developing body is too busy going through its changes to be forced to learn how much, if any, liquor it can safely absorb.

Everybody must know by now that drinking and driving don't mix. If there were no other reason, the time that most kids spend in cars would be enough to rule out teen drinking. This isn't even a situation where we can point out the pros and cons. There are no advantages to be gained by your drinking, and the disadvantages range from the embarrassment of getting sick and throwing up (in public; are you ready for that? It's possible), to the potential of a fatal accident. That means death, plain and simple. Are you ready to risk that? More accidents are caused by drinking than anything else; more teens get involved in accidents than any other age group. Fight that, baby.

If the crowd says you're nowhere for not drinking, then that's a safe place to be. And then how much fun would you have with a crowd that depended on liquor for its kicks, anyway? What do they do when they can't get to a bottle? Dry out and give up? Whatever makes for fun will make it without the alcohol or it's no real groove to begin with. If they insist, find other friends. If you think you still want them for friends, be blunt with 'em. Tell them they can take you as you are, or let you be. If they can't buy that, then they weren't really any kind of friends to begin with. After all, even confirmed alcoholics have non-drinking pals. There's nothing hard or bad or wrong about the words, 'No, thank you' whether it's to a drink or anything else.

You Can Tell Me

BY NURSE ELLEN ANDREWS

7 Day Period

Dear Miss Andrews,
My period is seven days long. Isn't that too long?
If so, what should I do about it?

K.M.
Louisiana

Dear K.M.,
Seven days is not too long for a menstrual period to last, although you may be finding it just a wee bit inconvenient to go so long. If you have no disturbing symptoms, there is nothing to do or worry about.

New Nose

Dear Miss Andrews,
I hate my nose. I know all of my other features are okay, only no one ever sees them because my nose is so enormous. I've tried all the make-up tricks that the cosmetics companies say to do, but it doesn't help. Is plastic surgery very expensive? also, do you think it's wrong to change it, if I can?

Ann D.
New York

Dear Ann,
Call the County Medical Society where you live and ask for the names and addresses of two or three plastic surgeons in the area. Fees do vary from place to place, but if you see two doctors you'll be able to make a fair comparison. The operation is a fairly simple one, requiring only a few days' hospitalization, and as long as you're in your early teens, you're old enough to undergo it. I know of some instances where a few friends, who all wanted new noses, scheduled their operations together over a long school holiday week-end! They had adjoining beds in the hospital, and their doctor took them one after the other. These girls made a real fun thing out of it, so you can be sure it isn't a very serious procedure, medically speaking. I don't find anything wrong with wanting to improve the shape of your nose, any more than I would with wanting to change the shape of your body, if you were too fat. It's really the same thing, wanting to look and feel your best, which is the most natural feeling in the world for any female. If the so-called 'nose job' is what you want, I sincerely hope it is within your means to get it. Good luck!

Chestless

Dear Miss Andrews,
I'm 14 and I have very small breasts. All my girlfriends are developed and I am very embarrassed. Should I go to the doctor and have him give me shots for it? What else can I do besides reading books and swimming?

Name and address withheld upon request

This is in answer to the letter above, and so many other like it that I have received recently. By all means, if this is your problem, do see a doctor, either your regular family physician or if you prefer, make an appointment with a gynecologist, which means a doctor who specializes in problems of women. You may be less embarrassed talking to him, and he is probably more up-to-date about such matters as he deals with them constantly. What a doctor will do for you is hard to say. The reasons for this condition in a young and still-growing girl are many, and therefore many different approaches may be taken by the doctor. There may not be any shots given at all. I'd prefer not to speculate on just what course of action the doctor might wish you to take, but as long as you see a competent medical authority, you may be sure you will get safe and careful treatment, most likely with results that will be highly pleasing to you.

Just Bones

Dear Miss Andrews,
I am 16 and have a problem that is embarrassing to me. I am skinny and very bony. In fact, my hips jut out, that's how bony I am. I love Twiggy and I'll bet her hips don't stick out. I am 5' 9" and don't weigh over 110 pounds. Could you please give me some advice on this problem? It embarrasses me when I have to wear a bathing suit.

J.G.
North Carolina

Dear J.G.,
Your best bet would be to get some dieting advice. The kind that puts weight on, naturally. A doctor might recommend taking a supplement between meals. These don't taste bad, and could add as much as 1200 calories per day. There might also be some body-building exercises that he knows. Your phys ed teacher or school nurse could check your posture and see if that is proper. If not, they'll show you the correct way to sit, stand and walk so that your body carries its bones to the best advantage. Maybe after learning the right stances you'll find that your hipbones do not jut as much as they did. Make sure you are wearing the most flattering kinds of clothes, too. Avoid vertical stripes and very large patterns. Select the heavy, bulky fabrics that are so attractive, but murder for heavier girls. Above all, make sure that you are not slouching or developing any other harmful, unsightly habits that you may think minimize your problem, but actually emphasize it. Do take advantage and consolation from the fact that skinny girls are definitely high fashion these days, and utilize style magazines to give you this much desired, 'in' look!

All the Way

Dear Miss Andrews,
I'm a 16 year old and I'm very much in love. My boyfriend is 20 and is in his last year of college. We've been going together for five months. We're planning to get married when I finish school which is in two years. We never fuss and we love each other very much. Sometimes it gets awfully hard for us not to let our emotions take over. I know if we don't get married before the two years are up, that I will go all the way with him. What I want to know is why we should wait. It's pure torture not to be able to go with him. We want to get married now, but my parents won't permit it. If I go with him, there's a possibility that I might get pregnant. Then we'd have to get married and that's what we want to do. Could you please advise me.

Miss B.
Alabama

Dear Miss B.,

After five months, and at the age of 16, you do not know enough about men in general and this one in particular to know whether you should spend the rest of your life with him. From your letter, it is a little difficult for me to judge whether you have chosen to write to me because I am a nurse, and you are seeking medical advice for your problem, or it is an answer to your emotions that you want. Medically, I will not advise you, because I do not believe it would serve your best interests to do so. In five months, you two have reached the peak of your emotional feelings, and I sincerely believe that if you go any further with this boy, "all the way," as you put it, your relationship can only go downhill. On the other hand, trying to stay at the peak without going any further is a very difficult thing to do, but the only thing, I think, in your case. It is a severe test of your love, that's true, but realize that your love does need strenuous testing at this point to see if it is the real thing, a tremendous infatuation (which often feels the same as love, but isn't it), or even an unconscious desire to force yourself into a situation which will compel you to achieve sexual experience without, you think, any of the guilt you would feel if you were being merely promiscuous. You are entirely too young to get married, so ask yourself very honestly how do you want to spend the next two years. I might even suggest you have a trial separation to find out how well you can live without one another. I realize all of this can only sound terribly cruel to you, but better a broken romance than a broken life. I do know of young couples who went steady for several years, waiting to marry, and it turned out well. On the other hand you may fall in love three more times in the next two years. Do something that will force you to marry soon, and I predict much sorrow for you. Use the two years to test and see and make your plans, and everything may turn out beautifully for the two of you. I hope it does, dear.

This Time Is Ours

In a few days Kim would be married. Sixteen, and married to Glenn. She would be truly happy, unless...

The new-fallen snow crunched under my boots as I went up the path to Dina's house. It wasn't her house, really, but she and Jeff rented the upstairs apartment; they'd lived there ever since they'd left school to get married in their third year of high school. I felt a little guilty when I realized how long it had been since I'd visited Dina. Funny, but once one of your friends gets married, she's in a different world.

Then I reminded myself that in a few days, I'd be a married woman, too, 16 and married—I'd be Mrs. Glenn Carson. Just the name was enough to send a little shiver of excitement through me. Glenn, with his unruly dark hair and those brown eyes that flipped me every time he looked at me.

I went up the outside steps and rang the bell of Dina's apartment. Sure the house was shabby and her apartment was small but, with Jeff working at the check-counter in the supermarket, they couldn't afford a split-level, could they? The important thing was that they were together, free to do as they pleased, without rules or curfews or any of those things that made Glenn and me so miserable this last year.

"Hi, Kim," Dina said, opening the door. I had to take a good look before I even recognized her. Gosh, she'd changed. I mean back at Stanton High, Dina had been one of the prettiest girls in our class, her blonde hair always smooth and shining, her miniskirts the shortest and the brightest. Now her hair was lank and stringy and she looked tired; she wore the kind of cotton housedress my Mom always wore and there was a run in her nylons. From the bedroom, I could hear Nicky, her baby, crying.

"It was nice of you to say you'd lend me your overnight case," I said.

"Anytime," she said. "I never use it—what I mean is, Jeff and I never go anywhere."

"I—I guess the baby ties you down," I said. "But he'll be grown-up before you know it."

"Yes," she said, but her voice was dull and toneless. What could be wrong? Maybe she and Jeff had had a spat. Yes, that must be it.

We sat down on the beatup sofa and she gave me a coke.

"Are you going on a skiing weekend?" she asked. "Is that why you need the overnight case?"

I shook my head. I had to tell somebody or I'd explode and Dina, of all people, would understand and be happy for me.

"Glenn and I—Dina, we're going to run away and get married. Just like you and Jeff did."

If I'd expected any congratulations, I was sure disappointed. "Why, Kim?" Dina asked. "Do you—do you have to get married?"

"Of course not," I said, a little stiffly. "We just love each other—and we want to be together—and—and run our own lives—we don't want to wait—"

I would have said more but just then the phone rang and Dina answered it. "Yes—Oh, Jeff—where are you?" She listened and then her mouth trembled and her eyes looked so sad it made me want to cry. "Jeff, you promised—yes, I know but—Jeff, you promised..." She listened to what he had to say and then she said, "All right, I'll wait up for you. No, I want to—honest I do."

After she hung up she tried to make cheerful small talk but finally I said, "What's wrong, Dina?"

"Jeff went out to the tavern," she said. "He was only going to get a few beers—said he had to get out of here and relax—away from me and the baby. Now he—he'll be gone all evening."

"I thought he was going to night school," I said.

"He was—for awhile. But he works hard and, well, he got tired of going to class at night and he had no place to do his homework. So he gave it up."

"Maybe he'll go back to school—maybe he'll get a better job—" I tried to sound hopeful but I knew how hard it was to get a job without a diploma. My Glenn had all his plans made—he was going to finish high school at night, and then go through college at night, too, and then on to engineering school...

But all at once I felt a cold stirring of doubt. What if he didn't. What if we ended up like Dina and Jeff.

Dina was asking me about the Snow Ball, our big winter dance, which would be held next month. I'd had a good chance of being chosen queen but now—now I wouldn't be going. Well what of it? That wasn't important; it was kid stuff and I was going to be a married woman.

Dina, with a far-away look in her eyes, was saying: "I wish I were going. I'd like to put on a blue dress with a full skirt and dance and dance all night and..." I looked at her face and I saw all the longing there for the lost years, the years that would never be hers.

She forced a smile. "I'll get the overnight case out of the closet now," she said. "I haven't used it since our honeymoon."

I took a long breath. "Dina," I said slowly. "Never mind. I won't be needing it."

Our eyes met then, just for a moment, and I knew she understood—and approved. "I guess Glenn and I can wait," I said. "I mean, we've got years and years ahead."

We talked a little longer and then I said good-night and went out into the clear, snowy evening. It wouldn't be easy telling Glenn I'd changed my mind, and maybe he'd never understand why I had, but if our love was real and strong, it would last.

And meantime, there'd be dresses with full skirts to whirl around me as I danced and danced all night; there'd be picnics and football games. We were so lucky—we had all the time in the world for growing up.

HAYLEY'S NOT A

REMEMBER her in that flick where she played her own twin, at a summer camp? Remember her getting her first screen kiss from Peter McNerny? Have you seen her in her latest, as a young bride with a problem? Sometimes I get the feeling we could all sit back and do nothing, while Hayley Mills grows up for, right on the screen, before your very eyes. Maybe that's why kids love her so; she acts so natural, and we watch her going through all the same things we do.

Only now, Hayley is making headlines with a difference. With a problem that some of us may face, but I have to hope we don't. Hayley is in love with a much older man, and with all her money, I wouldn't want her troubles.

The man in question is Roy Boulting, who directed Hayley in her latest epic, "The Family Way." There is a cute young guy named Hywell Bennett in the flick who is her leading man and plays her husband in the film. Naturally, you didn't expect Hayley to fall in love with him did you? Shame on your love I.Q. if you did. Actresses never really fall in love with their leading man, unless those leading men are leading them someplace else at the same time, as Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton (remember them?) on the "Cleopatra" set. No, it's usually the director that the star digs. After all, he's the one who tells you how marvelous you looked in the last scene; he tells the cameraman to focus on you; he tells you you are the only one on the face of the earth who can do this part properly; in short, he flatters, coaxes, wheedles, pampers, and drags the best performance he possibly can out of you. Who wouldn't fall for this kind of treatment? Certainly a wistful young girl who has always been treated like a little baby by everybody would be fair game indeed for this sort of enchanter. This Boulting is a wild 54 years old. We say wild because he's already been through two women (that's marriages), he and Hayley have been traveling together openly, and he is a man of vast sophistication. Not that Hayley isn't used to the great, big, world, but she has been brought up in a very sheltered way, for a public figure. She may be 21, but there hasn't been anything in her experience to prepare her to cope with a man like Roy Boulting. Naturally, she loves him.

This is exactly the sort of situation that would appeal to a girl with Hayley's imagination. Instead of being the sweet young thing she was image-built to be, she now flaunts the world, parents included, by doing and saying whatever she pleases. The more way-out, the better. Hayley in love is just an exciting new part for her, even more so because it's being played not on the screen, but in real life.

KID ANIMATOR

Hayley Mills has been a swinger since her early teens. Now she's 21—and in love. Here's a warning!

HAYLEY'S NOT A KID ANYMORE

She's looking for trouble and she's very likely going to find it. Hayley is in a too-much, too-soon bag. She is trying to grow up all at once, taste every thrill, dare every dare, as if to find out in one swift season what all of life is about.

Well, it doesn't work that way, ducky. Not if you're Hayley Mills or Jane Jones or anybody else. We don't blame Hayley for wanting to get away from that little girl image which she has obviously outgrown. But she doesn't have to get irresponsible and wicked in order to do it.

Hayley owes a lot to her fans. They identify more with her than any other star. That's what's really made her as big as she is. The fans have been loyal, as we said before, through every stage of Hayley's growing-up. Now, this is not something to be taken for granted. Very few child stars continued their careers successfully. There was never a kid as famous as Shirley Temple, for example. But when she grew, she blew. That fast. There were loads of others, whose names wouldn't mean anything to you now. Many of them went into early, disastrous marriages, that could well serve as warning to Hayley now. Was it the bad personal example that they set that caused those once-weres to lose their fans, fame, and fortunes? That's hard to say, but since it was the pattern for so many of them, it's highly possible. Hayley is at the very threshold, at the age of 21, between girlhood and womanhood. It's a highly treacherous time for any one, but so much more so for someone who has a career at stake as well. This sudden entrance into the adult world because of a role in an adult movie can scarcely have given Hayley adequate preparation for what she's getting herself mixed up with.

We hate to be in the position of handing out a warning to someone falling in love, because we think that love is really the loveliest, but just as the rose has its thorns, love has its dangers. The beautiful glow that Hayley is all wrapped up in is not any kind of protection for the battle ahead. This is why we are so concerned. It would be so simple to merely join the chorus of well-wishers murmuring dreamily "Hayley's in love, Hayley's in love, isn't it wonderful?" But we think too much of her, as a person and as an actress, not to express our very real and deep concern.

Hayley, we wish you love; you'll get it. But we also wish you luck; you'll need it. There is so much for you to look forward to in the wonderful life you've so successfully started for yourself, that it would really be too bad to blow it soon, so soon after such promise. (END)

PHOTOS IN THIS ARTICLE are from the new movie "The Family Way," the story of newlyweds whose marriage, in the words of one character in the film, "hasn't taken on." Hayley Mills, now grown up and displaying marvelous new talents, stars in her first married role. Born on April 18, 1946, Hawley created a sensation in her first film, "Tiger Bay," when she was 13. She went on to become one of the foremost "child stars" of all time, but Hayley now leaves those days far behind. Her father, the remarkably versatile John Mills, stars as Hayley's father-in-law. McCartney, of the Beatles, composed the music for "The Family Way," his first film score.
